Allied Tanks
Roam About In
Iron TriangleSome Counterattacks
Being Made by Red Forces

TOKYO, June 14—(P)—Allied tank columns roamed at will over the length of the Reds' shattered iron triangle in Korea today. But on the eastern front Communists turned and fought.

United Nations patrols probed through intense artillery fire to outposts of the new Red defense line north of Yanggu and Inje on the eastern central front.

In some sectors the Allies were kept busy Thursday beating off a series of North Korean counterattacks. The U. S. Eighth Army reported only one advance of as much as a mile.

The picture along the east was in marked contrast to the situation in the west. Giant tanks, literally covered with riflemen, rumbled the length of the triangle Wednesday to Pyongyang. They were almost unopposed.

The two big columns of more than 100 tanks returned at night after sweeping beyond the bomb shattered city.

Tank forces and infantrymen again made "little or no contact" with the Chinese in the triangle area Thursday, the Eighth Army reported.

Farther west UN patrols fought with small groups of Communists, leading one Allied officer to comment:

"The Reds haven't left us yet, but they are cringing."

North Koreans faded before most patrols in the Yanggu-Inje sector, AP Correspondent George A. McArthur reported. But they dug in and fought vigorously to defend key Terrain.

His censored dispatch reported patrols were probing into Red territory against outposts of the Communists' new defense line.

Despite heavy losses and wholesale withdrawals reports from the triangle area eastward, McArthur said the Reds apparently are not short of manpower.

"The main Red force is still definitely close in," an Allied officer said. (Please turn to Page Two)

WASHINGTON, June 14—(P)—Announced U. S. casualties in Korea reached 70,317 today, an increase of 1,965 since last week.

A defense department summary based on notifications to families through June 8 reported 10,432 killed, 48,133 wounded and 11,752 missing in action.

The wounded total included 1,231 who have since died, and 104 of the missing are known dead, raising the combat death toll to 11,767.

Of the missing, 1,284 have since returned to U. S. control and 153 are prisoners of war, leaving 10,211 currently missing.

Father Otto Guenther had his 32nd year as an ordained priest celebrated this morning (Thursday) by a mass which was attended by members of his parish in Washington C. H. They came to wish him well. On June 14, 1919 he was ordained in Columbus. He is in his sixth year at St. Columbian's Church.

George Revelis, who has reopened his newsstand just west of the Court House on North Main Street, received a box in the mail recently.

Revelis noted that it came from Crawfordsville, Ind., and eyed it suspiciously, for he knew that prankster Ora Middleton, formerly manager of the Morris Store here, was from Crawfordsville.

It was a sizeable box, and George carefully started untangling the wrappings. When he got to the bottom of it he found a miniature flower and greetings from Ora on the opening of his new store.

Revelis chuckled, recalling that Middleton was still his practical joking self, even in his new environment.

Truman After More Strict
Inflation CurbMeat Industry Is In Spotlight
Due to Control

WASHINGTON, June 14—(P)—President Truman carries his fight for stricter inflation control powers to the nation tonight amid growing demands from business that curbs be scrapped or lightened.

Administration officials said Mr. Truman's address from the White House (9:30 P. M. EST) will call for a consumers' crusade on Congress.

The Defense Production Act containing most control powers expires June 30 and the administration is asking for a two-year extension with broader control authority.

But business led by the beef packers stuck to their guns for lesser federal limitations. Major industry organizations, like the National Association of Manufacturers and U. S. Chamber of Commerce, contend removal of price-wage curbs would increase production.

The Ford Motor Co., while asking Congress to extend controls, suggested a number of changes, such as guaranteeing higher price ceilings as labor and materials costs increase. But Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston claimed last night the Ford ideas would "destroy" stabilization.

The Senate banking committee scheduled a vote today (meets 9:30 A. M. EST) on a straight one-year extension of the present defense act—without the broader control powers asked by Mr. Truman.

Neil Burgess, Jr., assistant manager of engineering of the GE aircraft gas turbine divisions, said the new all-weather engine also features anti-icing and high altitude starting characteristics.

He said it may be equipped for either water-alcohol injection or after-burning for greatly added thrust power for short periods.

The new jet's power was not revealed. The power thrust of the present J-47 is rated in excess of 5,200 pounds. (Turbojet power is rated in pounds of thrust, or driving force, exerted.)

Burgess said the advanced "21" was developed in the record time of 18 months—from drawing board to completion of 50 test hours.

The new engine is 36.75 inches in diameter and 146 inches long, having the same frame size as the J-47 but with a lower rate of fuel consumption, Burgess said.

The all-weather feature of the "21," he said, meant that every jet engine using problem thus far encountered had been overcome. Those problems have been considered serious for several years, he added, and have hampered the use of jet-powered aircraft.

The company also announced it is working on other new engines, including the XJ-53, which was not further identified.

There was no indication of when the new "21" jet would go into mass production.

Destroyer Walke
Damaged by Blast

WASHINGTON, June 14—(P)—The navy reported today an underwater explosion damaged the Destroyer Walke, killed 26 men and injured seven others off the east coast of Korea Tuesday.

The navy said the blast was "presumably caused by a floating mine." The destroyer suffered damage to her hull but was able to proceed under her own power to a Japanese port.

Other American warships stood by as the Walke limped into the port.

New Jet Aircraft Engine
Faster Than Other Type

NEW YORK, June 14—(P)—The General Electric Co. has produced a new all-weather jet aircraft engine which it claims far surpasses in power the engine used to set the present world speed record.

Development of the new turbo-jet power plant, the J-47-G. E.-21, was announced last night at the annual convention of the Aviation Writers' Association.

The company said the new engine incorporates all the best features of the famed J-47 engine, "but with a thrust output so much greater that it isn't even in the same class."

The J-47 currently is used in the F-86 Sabre fighter, which holds the world speed record, and in the six-jet Boeing B-47 Stratofortress Bomber.

A company official described the new "21" as "an important step in the world race for jet supremacy."

Some Big Men May Be Involved

WASHINGTON, June 14—(P)—Price officials disclosed today they are working on suspected beef black market cases involving "some pretty big people" in the meat industry.

None of the cases is yet ready for prosecution, the Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) sources said, but they involve "pretty serious allegations" of ceiling evasion by packers and wholesalers.

Price enforcement agents also are working on "quite a few" cases of alleged illegal slaughtering which will be ready for submission to the Justice Department in a few days, it was stated.

They include the violation of slaughtering quotas, use of fraudulent quotas and slaughtering by persons who have not been registered with the OPS.

The beef packing cases involve several suspected violations of OPS' price order governing beef sales at wholesale, including so-called "tie-in" arrangements.

Tie-in sales are those in which the buyer is required, as a condition of obtaining the meat he wants, to purchase also quantities of products he may not want or need.

The suspected violations also include false or incorrect grading or invoicing of beef and selling to persons other than regular purchasers, OPS authorities said.

Lie Detector Tests Hold Up
As Criminals Try To Deceive

By KEN DAVIS

COLUMBUS, June 14—(P)—Prison grapevines are buzzing with whispered methods for beating the lie detector, but modern science is holding up well to the test.

Ohio criminals have a new fad. They are taking lie detector tests even if they're guilty. They think they can beat the test by means they heard lipped around the underworld.

They aren't doing so well. "They couldn't even beat lie detection in the days of King Solomon," grinned a Columbus police officer, "so how do they figure they can get away with it now?" You remember King Solomon and the first lie detection test? That's where two women each claimed an infant was her own. The king ruled the baby should be cut in half and each woman would get her share.

The fake mother agreed; the real mother said "no." The real mother was willing to give up her baby to save its life.

King Solomon banked on psychology. But, there is scientific (Please turn to Page Twenty)

Council Passes Curfew Ordinance;
Hill Proposes City Income Tax Here

The City Council moved Wednesday night to curtail nightly activities of youths in Washington C. H. when they passed a curfew ordinance.

Under provisions of the ordinance adopted by the City Council, parents face fines and possible imprisonment if they permit their children to roam the streets of the city after 10:30 P. M.

The ordinance becomes effective immediately, and all boys and girls under 17 years of age are included in the scope of the new city law.

The measure provides that all boys and girls under 17 years of age who are found loitering about the streets of the city after 10:30 P. M., without a parent, guardian or other adult person in charge, are to be picked up.

They are to be taken to police headquarters and their parents notified.

For the first offense, parents are to be warned and the child sent home in their custody.

May Get Jail Sentences

For a second offense, a fine of $10 is provided. For third and subsequent offenses, parents may be fined $25 and costs, or sent to jail 10 days, or both.

Minors under 17 will not be disturbed if they have legitimate business on the streets after 10:30, such as being enroute home from a picture show.

In another important move, the council instructed City Manager Winston W. Hill to work out a complete schedule of what increased revenue would be brought into the city from a city income tax.

Hill suggested a city income tax as a possible source of revenue to help the city meet the increased costs of municipal operation. He proposed that an ordinance be drawn and presented so that the public would have at least three months to make themselves heard on the proposal.

At the same session of council City Manager Hill submitted a proposal to council to employ Fire Chief George Hall at $150 per month as supervisor of the sewage disposal plant, which has been without a regular supervisor for sometime.

Hill explained that the work would not interfere with Hall's duties as fire chief and that Hall was perfectly capable of handling the job, with a little instruction in connection with the chemical work necessary for such a position.

Hill stated that he had written to several prospective supervisors for the plant, which requires a great deal of technical skill, and the lowest demand for salary to start was $350 a month and increases of $10 monthly each year for several years. The proposal was referred to the safety service committee to report on at the next meeting.

Hill said that until Hall is familiar with the chemical work necessary, a technician would come here two or three times monthly for a few months to instruct Hall in the work.

Howard Annon presented a petition of residents, asking that a junk yard amid the residential area on John Street be abolished.

He said that it was a nuisance in the neighborhood and that residents of the surrounding area wished it abolished. This was referred to the safety service committee.

Annon also presented an application for a street light at Broadway and Elm Streets, and this, too, was referred to the safety service committee.

City Manager Hill said a representative of the state highway department would be here soon to check legislation providing for no parking, or restricted parking, on streets which had been resurfaced here with the state paying most of the cost.

Complaints were made of trucks being parked on North North Street, and this is to be investigated.

A resolution was adopted awarding to J. A. White and Co. of Cincinnati, $36,091.92 in street improvement bonds at a bid of two percent and premium of $100.

Lakeview Bid Rejected

Another resolution awarded $14,645.76 in sewer bonds to J. A. White and Co. at two percent and $72 premium.

A resolution confirming award of a note for $11,000 to the Washington Savings Bank for the city's portion of resurfacing Leesburg Avenue and Lewis Street, at two percent, was adopted.

City Manager Hill said that only one bid had been received for rebuilding Lakeview Avenue, and it was $46,244.27, or about $7,000 above the estimated cost.

The bid was rejected, and the city manager was instructed to advertise for bids. Brewer and Brewer, Chillicothe, submitted the only bid.

An ordinance to provide a second sergeant in the police department, and fix salaries was adopted.

A bid made by Edward Payne, Inc., to insulate the city building at a cost of $593 brought action authorizing the city manager to have the work done.

One to two inches of rain over most of Florida's citrus belt have banished serious danger there.

Marvelous New Electronic Brain Working on U. S. Census

PHILADELPHIA, June 14—(P)—A $600,000 "electronic brain," able to supply in split seconds mathematical answers to the toughest problems, goes to work today for the U. S. Census Bureau.

Development of the universal automatic computer, trade-named the UNIVAC, took five years. Now what used to take many people weeks to compute can be done in hours by UNIVAC alone.

Dr. J. Presper Eckert and Dr. John W. Mauchly, who invented UNIVAC, are the same two who created the famous ENIAC in World War II for the U. S. Army. The ENIAC was used for military problems, particularly to reckon the trajectory of shells.

UNIVAC is designed for commercial use, but its inventors say it can solve problems in army, navy and air force material control, logistical planning, mapping services and complicated supply operations faster and more efficiently than any other system extant.

UNIVAC operates with 5,400 electric tubes.

New Court Will Be Established
January FirstBill Is Signed by Governor Lausche
Late Wednesday

A municipal court is to be established in Washington C. H. next January as a result of the new municipal court bill which now becomes a law by reason of being signed by Governor Lausche late Wednesday.

The municipal court here, one of 15 new courts established by the law, will have jurisdiction in all of Fayette County except Jefferson Township.

Those supporting the new court here were instrumental in excluding Jefferson Township from the bill in order that the minimum salary of $2,000 and a part-time judge could apply to this court. A district containing more than 20,000 population would require a full time judge at a salary of not less than $4,000 under the law.

The new court becomes available to this city and all townships except Jefferson with the beginning of the new year. A judge is to be chosen at the coming November election.

Candidates By Petition

Candidates for this office must be lawyers who have practiced law for at least five years. Any attorney so qualified may become a candidate by circulating a petition which requires one percent of the signatures of the total number of qualified electors voting in the last gubernatorial election in the territory to be covered by the new court. Eliminating the vote in Jeffersonville and Jefferson Township this means 80 signatures, or one percent of the 7,949 votes.

Petitions must be filed with the county board of elections 90 days before the coming November election. Such petitions, according to the way the statutes read, should not carry more than double the number of minimum signatures required. The object of this is presumed to be for the purpose of avoiding a great mass of petitions and signatures being filed with the election board for an office.

The new law eliminates all justices-of-the-peace in the territory covered under the jurisdiction of the new court. This means that there would be no justices elected in this county except in Jefferson Township.

The new municipal court also replaces the police court in Washington C. H. where Richard R. Willis is police court justice by virtue of his office as president of the city council.

Bar To Meet

Attorney William A. Lovell, who heads the Fayette County Bar Association, stated Thursday morning that probably there would be a meeting called of the bar association membership at an early date to consider whether a candidate should be endorsed by the organization.

He stated that it was uncertain whether the association would take any action but that if any endorsement was made it would be only as a recommendation of the attorneys of some one the bar felt was properly qualified and worthy. He said that it was fully appreciated by attorneys that the identity of the new municipal judge would be determined by a vote of the electors and that attorneys under no circumstances desired to dictate the personnel of the new court. Any qualified attorney may file a petition of candidacy.

Minimum Salary $2,000

The minimum salary of $2,000 is expected to stand for the court here, although the actual amount, whether the minimum or more, is to be fixed by the city council of Washington C. H., the only legislative body within the jurisdiction of the court.

The expense of the new court is borne proportionately by the entire territory which it serves, the city paying three-fifths and the remainder of the county, aside from Jefferson Township, paying the balance.

The municipal court, being a court of record, will have jurisdiction in civil cases up to $2000. It has the power to remove the license of motor car drivers in case the judge considers the violations of sufficient seriousness.

Those who have supported the plan for such a new court here state that they are confident the court will bring in more revenue than did the city police court and

The Beef Situation Is Not Encouraging

The beef situation does not show any improvement. There is little promise for any change for the better soon.

Fayette County cattlemen are saying little. They merely are sitting tight and cattlemen over the nation seem to be doing the same thing. They do not like the government's methods on price control.

Since price controls went into effect there is no question but what the nation's beef supply is showing evidence of being trimmed. Acute shortages are reported in most metropolitan centers.

Packers say they are not buying many cattle for the simple reason that the market is higher than prices prescribed under the OPS regulations.

Supplies of live cattle coming to major markets dropped 30 percent or more since the government rollback became effective. As a result packers throughout the nation have curtailed slaughter or discontinued it entirely, with serious layoffs of workers.

The recent rollback on meat puts the full force of the whole price cut right back to the farmer and rancher, with the inevitable result of starting a black market or putting the beef producer out of business.

Price reductions will start and end with the producer because there is no slack to be taken up by the processors, whose profits, never too high, must be had from the spread between the cost of live animals and what the public pays over the retail counter. This may come as a surprise to the uninformed.

Meanwhile authentic representatives of the cattlemen have had President Truman's ear but to no tangible effect. Price Chief DiSalle insists the order will stand, and that he will be supported in this attitude by the administration.

Because the American people will have their beef, whether or no, black markets probably will flourish, and another great industry will suffer from the slings and arrows of outrageous politics.

Guarding Our Freedom

New powers asked by the president in his proposals for amendment of the Defense Production Act would give the executive branch of the government powers comparable to those held by foreign dictators.

Such powers might mean the nationalization of industry and socialization of our economy. The proposed amendments would permit the government to condemn and take over anything it wants. The government could build and operate plants and buy and sell as it pleases.

The president has already given an example of "extra-legal" authority by authorizing the Wage Stabilization Board to handle labor disputes. The powers he asks from Congress now are not necessary for national defense.

Price-Cutting War

Whether, as Washington OPS bureaucrats say hopefully, the price-cutting war now under way in the big cities, notably New York, will peter out soon, can be only a guess. Obvious stores cannot continue to sell merchandise at cost or less and remain in business.

Prices will snap back to their former levels if shortages occur. Washington now says this will happen as soon as industry switches to war orders.

The result to date of the price war seems to indicate lagging sales were not the result of lack of buying power on the part of the public. People were slow to buy apparently because they thought prices were too high. The scent of bargains started them heading to the sales counters as never before.

American Women Standardized

NEW YORK (P)—Will American women ever be stocked in coin-vending machines -- just like candy bars and cigarettes?

A well-known artist fears they are becoming so standardized that this is a possibility.

"They reflect the factory age so much," sighed Paul Meltner, "that I look forward to the time when you can go up to a machine marked 'woman,' put in a coin, and select the standard model you want."

This form of mechanical courtship might attract the average man, charmed by its convenience. But it is gruesome for Meltner to contemplate, because he believes American women are losing the individuality the artistic soul prizes.

He says they camouflage themselves so much now that it is almost impossible to do an honest portrait of them.

"The artist is in a peculiar position," he said, "if he paints what he sees, a lot of people simply won't believe it. They will regard it as an anatomical absurdity. Because women no longer are what they seem."

"They are walking examples of all that the average person finds objectionable in so-called modernistic art. Their faces have a quality of abstract art -- a dead look, out of this world."

Meltner, whose studies hang in a dozen museums here and abroad, said American women "need more individual analysis -- and less false propaganda."

"If our country were in the same shape its women are, it would be hard to find out what shape it really was in."

Basically, he said the trouble is that women have become slavish robots of the fashion world. A woman of natural beauty ruins it by wrong makeup, wrong hair coloring, wrong changing of her normal figure -- all to fit a current vogue.

"Many married men must look at their wives, changing from year to year with the dictates of fashion," he said, "and wonder what happened to the original girl he married."

Meltner himself does not have to wonder. He's a bachelor.

One of his pet peeves is the gazette type females displayed in high style fashion magazines.

Honolulu Conference of 1944

On July 29, 1944, President Franklin D. Roosevelt and General Douglas MacArthur ended a four day visit in Honolulu. Present were Admirals Chester W. Nimitz and William F. Halsey, Jr., and others. Admiral William D. Leahy and Elmer Davis, then head of the OWI, accompanied the president.

The purpose of this conference was to discuss the Pacific war and its relationship to the entire picture. General MacArthur took the re-conquest of the Philippines would split the Japanese empire, that our naval activities would leave the Japanese homeland without an adequate supply of rice which is the essential food of the Japanese people. Thus, the Japanese would be starved into an unconditional surrender. Conversely, it would deprive their forces of support from the homeland.

Soviet Russia was, in 1944, neutral in our war with Japan. Roosevelt had, at Teheran, raised the issue of Russian participation but had not accomplished it. Mac-

Arthur's attitude was that if the strategy of starvation of Japan were pursued, it would be of no advantage to the United States for Soviet Russia to come in. He feared Russia's demands upon China -- a fear that was subsequently justified by the facts.

That Japan was starved into submission is an established historic fact, fully documented at the Tokyo trials. Even before the atom bomb was hurled at Hiroshima, Japan was a broken nation. My own private information from Japanese friends of long standing makes this clear. As long as Japan had food, she could fight. She collapsed with 3,000,000 uncommitted troops because her food was unavailable.

Yet, Dean Acheson, in his defense of Yalta, makes the point that in February 1945, Roosevelt was forced to make the enormous concessions he did make to Soviet Russia with regard to China, Manchuria and Korea because he was so anxious to get Russia into the Far Eastern war; he was uncertain of victory; the atom bomb was not yet a success.

It is beyond understanding that Roosevelt, in February, 1945, was obvious to the great success that MacArthur and Nimitz had already achieved in the Pacific. The Philippines had been invaded and the first cavalry and other forces were already in Manila. Shipping off the China coast was being bombed by our planes. The conquest of Japan by starvation, explained to Roosevelt at Honolulu 1944, was actually becoming effective.

Roosevelt could not have been so pessimistic that he could have believed that it was necessary to give Russia a free hand in China, Manchuria and northern Korea.

Besides, for this enormous compensation, Russia agreed to come into the Far Eastern war, three months after the Germans were defeated. It must have been clear on February 11, 1945, to anyone

Massage and Heat Help Many Ailments

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

From the beginning of recorded history, men have known the value of such simple physical measures as heat, massage, and exercise, but only of late years has the application of such remedies been developed into a definite branch of medicine.

Heat, for instance, is being widely used today to increase circulation, to alleviate pain, to relieve muscle spasm, to promote the movement of stiff joints, and to aid generally in the healing of diseased and injured tissues. Heat can be one of the most valuable of the physician's aids, but it must be properly used in the proper form if it is to obtain the best results.

Heat Lamps

The doctor has many forms of heat from which to choose, among them being heat lamps, paraffin baths, diathermy, and whirlpool baths where the effects of both the heat and water are brought to bear.

As a rule, heat is used locally, but it may produce some general effect. For example, in the presence of decreased circulation to the leg, more abundant blood flow to the lower extremity may be obtained by the application of heat to the abdominal wall or upper extremity. The whirlpool combines massages with heat, and has the advantage of permitting under-water exercise of the legs and arms.

Even though exercise wrongly taken can injure a patient, many times it may be used to his great advantage.

In recent years, doctors have begun to study the effect of muscle education and exercise of patients. This has opened up a new field in medicine in which the treatment of diseases by the application of physical therapy in which there is a trained doctor who can give treatment as needed for those having injuries or recovering from fractures, strokes, or other incapacitating illnesses. Physical therapy schools, in which technicians are trained to help in this form of therapy, are now fairly common.

Previously, medicine and surgery were the only means of giving adequate treatment to patients. Now we have also a great new field, in which the physical forces of Nature are being used. It is felt that many people who have had illnesses which would have left some disability in their wake, can be helped by this new type of physical medicine, and many others who had no chance of rehabilitation by other methods, will now be benefited by this new science of physical medicine.

Too Much Ruhr Coal

Shipped Germans Say

DUESSELDORF, Germany, June 14—(P)—Ruhr industrialists claim the Allies are forcing them to export so much coal they are forced to buy back their own fuel--at almost three times the original price--to run their plants.

The Ruhr chiefs complain this enforced export of their coal is wasting millions of dollars yearly. Much of it, they claim, comes out of the pockets of the American taxpayer.

American officials privately admit the Germans have a point.

"Their coal exports are pretty high," one leading U. S. official said. "Something will have to be soon."

The World Today

BY JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, June 14—(AP)—Beef, which has shouldered its way into the headlines, should stay there a while.

Starting tonight a congressional committee—headed by Senator Maybank, South Carolina Democrat—will begin an investigation of beef.

There's no shortage of cattle on the farms. But last week fewer cattle were sent to the slaughterhouses than any time in three years.

Maybank says there's a meat famine and he wants to find out if it's caused by a strike by the meat industry because it's sore about price controls.

The story goes back to last Jan. 26 when OPS—the Office of Price Stabilization—froze prices generally.

But this freeze applied, in the meat industry, only to wholesalers and retailers. Meaning:

The price at which the wholesaler could sell to the retailer, your neighborhood butcher, was frozen; so was the price the retailer could charge you.

But the farmer or cattle-raiser was untouched; he still was free to charge any price he could get when he sold to the slaughterer.

Gradually, OPS says, the wholesaler and retailer, with their prices frozen, were caught in a squeeze as the price of the beef they bought went up.

Although cattle people argue the expense of raising cattle has increased, OPS' boss Michael V. DiSalle says the price of beef has shot up faster—50 percent in 18 months.

So his OPS decided the farmer's price could be cut and he'd still be ahead of the game with plenty of profit left. On April 28 OPS acted.

It announced a plan which by Oct. 1, OPS said, should cut the farmer's price about five cents a pound but cut the price for you, the customer, when you bought it in a butcher shop by about ten percent a pound—somewhere around ten cents on most beef.

This was the plan: By May 20 slaughterers would have to reduce the average price they paid cattle-raiser for the live beef by ten percent; another 4 1-2 percent by Aug. 1; and still another 4 1-2 percent by Oct. 1.

And by the time Aug. 1 came around retail prices would be cut four or five cents a pound and the same amount again on Oct. 1.

That, briefly, is the OPS plan. DiSalle said beef, which makes up such a large part of the American diet, had to be controlled or the whole price control program would become a joke.

Almost from the moment that April 28 plan was made public, cattlemen poured into Washington, demanding of their congressmen that these controls be abandoned. They even went to see the president about it.

And congressmen, or some of them, went to bat for the cattlemen, calling upon OPS to drop its price control plans on beef, threatening to pass a law forbidding such controls unless OPS took heed.

A lot of pressure was applied. And last week Mr. Truman himself seemed not too firm when asked at a news conference whether the OPS would weaken on its plan. He said DiSalle had it under study. But in a few days the picture changed.

By the end of the week government figures showed what was happening, although some cattlemen pooh-poohed the strike idea: the volume of cattle being sent to the slaughter houses was the lowest in three years.

Yesterday Charles E. Wilson, boss of the whole government defense program, backed DiSalle 100 percent. He said the OPS plan for cutting beef prices would stick.

And a few hours later Senator Maybank disclosed that his committee would start investigating to see whether the cattlemen had tried to pull a meat strike to scare the government into abandoning price control on beef.

Deadline for 12,000 Business Places Saturday

Reminder to some 12,000 business establishments in central and southeastern Ohio, including Washington C. H., that they have only one more day to file under the Office of Price Stabilization's service regulation was given today by Edward F. Wagner, district OPS director. Deadline for filing under the regulation, CPR 34 is June 16.

By that date all businesses covered by ceiling price regulation 34 must post in a prominent place their ceiling prices, and each must send a copy of the price list to the Columbus district OPS office at 68 East Gay Street, Columbus 15, Ohio.

According to Henry S. Pettengill OPS services price specialist, ceiling prices are "based upon the highest price charged for a service between December 19, 1950 and January 26, 1951, with special provisions for new establishments and seasonal operators."

The order, which became effective May 16, covers a host of amusements and recreational facilities as well as industrial services and automotive repairs. These include barbers and beauticians, radio and appliance repairs, laundry and dry cleaning, parking lots, filling stations, bowling alleys, golf courses, and other everyday services.

Specifically excluded from the regulation are hospital services, theater tickets, transportation by contract carriers, and a few other lines exempt from price controls or covered by other OPS regulations.

An OPS spokesman defined a service as "generally speaking the performance of any labor -- other than as an employee -- for any individual at a price."

Huge Expansion Of Chemical Co.

NEW YORK, June 14—(AP)—Plans for a $25,000,000 plant expansion program were announced today by Allied Chemical & Dye Corp.'s Solvay Process Division, leading producer of synthetic nitrates for explosives and fertilizer.

Under the program, Solvay's synthetic nitrogen capacity will be increased by 100,000 tons a year. And a process will be developed for producing hydrogen through conversion to natural gas from coke.

The expansion will be carried on during the next two years at Solvay's nitrogen plants in South Point, Ohio and Hopewell, Virginia.

Solvay pioneered in the development of synthetic ammonia, produced by combining nitrogen and hydrogen.

The program will consist of several sacred numbers, semi-classics, spirituals and humorous songs. Mary Sue Belles, organist, will accompany the group and play an organ solo.

Included in the concert will be a violin solo by Mrs. Charles Sheridan, accompanied by Miss Margaret Gibson, a men's double duet and two numbers by a girl's sextet.

The public has been invited to attend. There is no charge, and no offering will be taken.

Mail Truck Driver Now in Workhouse

From mail truck driver to the Cincinnati Workhouse in 48 hours is the record made by Carl Edward Rowsey, 29, of Columbus.

Rowsey, it will be recalled, was the driver of a star route mail truck which he double parked on South Fayette Street while he was in a nearby sandwich shop, then resisted arrest after tearing up a traffic ticket.

Rowsey was fined $25 and costs for disorderly conduct and $100 and costs for resisting arrest.

Unable to pay the amount, he was taken to the Cincinnati Workhouse Wednesday afternoon in custody of Chief Vaiden Long, and will work out his $143.40 fine at the rate of $3 a day.

When officers placed a parking ticket on the truck driven by Rowsey, he came out of the sandwich shop, tore up the ticket, told the officers he worked for Uncle Sam and proceeded to abuse them.

It was then he was taken into custody and locked up. The mail truck was turned over to the Post Office here.

to specialize in tap dancing with Johnny Murphy, Columbus instructor.

Preparations are being made for a fall recital, to be sponsored by the American Legion, with proceeds to be used for charity.

Quincy Cheadle Named Farm Bureau Agent

Quincy Cheadle, 419 South Fayette Street, has been appointed a local agent for the Farm Bureau insurance companies, according to W. A. White of Columbus, vice president in charge of sales.

Cheadle will work under Ralph W. Cornelius, manager of Fayette and Clinton Counties.

He served with the infantry in the Pacific for 24 months and was in the army for a total of 27 months during World War II. He is a graduate of East High in Columbus, is married and is the

Slick Dad Up
For His Day

BY BETTY CLARKE

You shouldn't take Dad seriously when he says: "Don't get me anything for Father's Day." That's what they all say. But chances are if you agree with him that Dad's day is just a commercial enterprise, and don't get him anything, he'll really be disappointed.

All Dads aren't sentimental. But if little Johnny Jones down the street gives his father even the tiniest gift, and Jimmy Green doesn't, Dad Green might be a little put out.

Lots of little things can give Dad a lift without straining the family budget. He'll appreciate the tiniest present, particularly since usually it comes out of his own wallet in the end. Each child should have his own present for Dad, and they should be encouraged to save their pennies for the occasion.

The most useful items within a youngster's price bracket usually range from shaving creams to complete boxes of toiletries. Father will not admit that he is fragrance-minded, but just watch him perform that shaving ritual some time. Usually his equipment includes lotion, talc and probably eau de cologne.

When choosing his fragrance, make sure it is tangy, pleasant and masculine. If he's stocked up on shaving creams, give him a set of after-shave lotion and cologne (for after the shower). One four-way set is complete in a he-man "tambark" scent with after-shave lotion, cologne, shave powder and brushless shaving cream.

If Dad is an electric-shaver man it is best to skip a set of shave toiletries containing shaving cream which, naturally, he would not need. In that case limit your gift to after-shave lotion and talc and possibly cologne.

WCTU Meets At Home of Mrs. Ralph Hays

Members of the Sugar Grove WCTU assembled for their June meeting at the attractive country home of Mrs. Ralph Hays, near Madison Mills Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Earl Scott, president, opened the meeting with the reading of a poem "God Sends a Little Home To Us."

Mrs. Frank Haines led in the devotionals and included an article from the Upper Room and closed with prayer.

The program prepared by the president, consisted of several timely articles taken from The Union Signal, a WCTU publication and are as follows: "Ten Times Worse" by Mrs. Clarence Campbell; "Blacklist Law Bans Drinks To Tipplers" by Mrs. Beryl Cavine; "This Christmas 1951" by Mrs. Ralph Hays; "Beer For Ladies" by Miss Minnie Breakfield; "The Happy Thrush" by Mrs. Ola Taylor and "From The Study" by Mrs. C. C. Marine.

Mrs. Scott closed the program with the article "Dope Addict Bares Horrors of One Binge," which brought out forcefully the grave danger from the use of habit-forming narcotics. The meeting was brought to a close with the WCTU benediction and a social hour followed. Mrs. Hays was assisted by Mrs. Cavine in the serving of a seasonal dessert course. Mrs. Ola Taylor was included as a guest.

There's plenty of canned fish on hand for summer meals, but tuna and Maine sardines are more plentiful than salmon.

Class Members Plan Lawn Fete At Meeting

Twenty-seven members and their teacher, Mrs. Marguerite Powell, of the Marguerite Class of First Presbyterian Church, assembled in the church house for the regular meeting. Mrs. Kenneth Arnold, president, opened the meeting with a short prayer and silence in reverence to Mrs. Cecil

Mecca of Tourists Cold War Victim

PASSAU, Germany—(AP)—This ancient Danube city is suffering from a lack of tourist traffic.

Passau, biggest German city on the Eastern border, has a population of 35,000 nearly one-eighth of whom are unemployed. In addition there are 8,000 refugees in camps.

For centuries visitors have provided virtually all Passau's outside income. It is a city which never has had a major industry. It prided itself on being a cultural center and bishopric. It pointed out its seminaries to the thousands who used to visit the city and the great cathedral, begun in the bustling days of Rome's northern conquests but border regulations have stifled those tourists coming from Austria, most West Germans have neither the time nor the money to travel as they did in the old days, and the Iron Curtain is close by.

"People don't want to come so far east," one councilman says. "Until they do Passau must just wait in the sun."

"IT'S SO EASY TO PLACE A WANT AD."

Plenty of Buyers If Price Is Right; Wave of Price-cutting Now Shows

NEW YORK, June 14—(AP)—Why price wars? Bargain-happy men and women don't care—at long last they're having their inning. Merchants do care—at long last merchandise is moving out of the stores. Department store sales, which had been creeping along, suddenly spurted in New York to 25 percent above last year.

Price wars may be popular with customers, but other merchants have few kind words for them. Sceptics are saying that—sure, when you can ballyhoo the traditional "sale" into a "price war," with a lot of free advertising, and contagious hysteria among customers—then you really move the stagnant goods off your shelves. But what happens when the war is over? Where are your customers then?

The present price-cutting spree, complete with circus trappings, has demonstrated two things:

1. There is still a lot of unsatisfied demand for the goods—if priced within the buyer's reach.

The country isn't, as some have held, entirely over-bought as the result of two waves of scare buying.

2. There is still a lot of purchasing power. It went into hiding for a time when prices jumped so high, and credit terms were made so steep, that together they cut off a lot of families at the pockets. Lower-income bracket customers became ex-customers because they didn't have the cash to pay the prices, nor to meet the higher monthly payments.

Court Provided Excuse
The blow the supreme court dealt state fair-trade laws is widely held to be only an excuse for the present price-cutting. Newspapers were full of ads before that, as stores tried to work off top-heavy inventories with sales promotions by reducing their mark-ups on goods that wouldn't move.

Fair-trade goods whose retail prices had been supported by law became the first targets in the price wars, because the stores hadn't been able to advertise them in the sales already going on. Inventories of the fair-traded goods had, in many cases, stayed embarrassingly high.

All agree now that many merchants guessed wrong last summer and fall when they started to build up inventories. They thought consumer scare-buying would continue as long as the goods lasted. They thought scarcities would come sooner and production be far less than it turned out to be.

When production spurted, when a big prop to inflation was knocked out by the federal budget's getting into approximate balance, and when consumers stopped scaring so easily—the buyers' market developed suddenly.

Merchants are doing what they traditionally do at such times—reduce their mark-ups. In the case of price wars, this will go on until prices drop to the break-even point. Then the price will be too low to pay the store's overhead—unless these loss leaders attract enough traffic into the store to move other goods on which the profitable mark-ups are still retained.

Then Cuttings Stop

When the merchants cut prices enough to lose money and when—more important—the big inventories are worked down to comfortable size, the price wars will stop. That probably isn't too far off.

The Federal Reserve Board notes that for the last three months department stores have been buying less than they sold. But, meanwhile, banks have been pressing to have the old inventories cut and bank loans on them repaid.

The manufacturer who has invested heavily in endowing his brand name products with prestige is very unhappy to see them tossed about as loss leaders and their value belittled in the public's mind.

The small businessman may be the most worried of all, because he knows that his well-heeled bigger competitor can outlast a little fellow in a price war. It goes on long enough, the war could close down some small stores.

The present price cutting however, makes the dollar in your pocket look bigger. It gives your

Veterinarian Faces Four Indictments

BOWLING GREEN, June 14—(AP)—A special grand jury has returned a four-count indictment against a Bowling Green veterinarian accused of assaults on teen-age couples parked on country roads.

Dr. James R. Bridenstine, 24, prominent in the Bowling Green community, faces these counts in the indictment:

Assault with intent to commit rape; assault with intent to commit mayhem with a caustic substance; assault with intent to kill, and assault with intent to rob.

The indictment was in connection with a May 30 assault on two teen-agers, a girl and a boy, who were parked in an automobile on a country road. Sheriff Clarence Marsh reported a man drove up savings account a new look. It makes inflation seem a more remote danger.

It also makes the American competitive system look more virile in its feuding with a controlled economy, slip the fetters off the law of supply and demand, and sometimes even the consumer gets a break.

beside the car, threw chemicals in the faces of the two, and attempted to assault the girl after knocking out her companion.

The girl's eyes were injured seriously and she is now under treatment. Another girl who figured in a previous assault case was injured less seriously.

In all, Sheriff Marsh said, Bridenstine is accused of assaults on three couples, although the indictment returned was based on the May 30 case.

Warns of Possible Serious Outbreak

TEHRAN, June 14—(AP)—British Ambassador Sir Francis Shepherd has warned Prime Minister Mohammed Mossadeq that continued Iranian propaganda against the British may touch off a powderkeg of antiforeign violence in the oil port of Abadan.

Shepherd disclosed his warning as top officials of the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Company prepared to start negotiations. Perhaps today, with Iran's government on the nationalization of the company's vast holdings centered at the Persian Gulf port.

From Abadan Associated Press Correspondent Fred Zussy Reported the situation there appeared extremely delicate.

Shepherd said he had told Mossadeq on Saturday he thought "the Iranian government is not taking sufficiently into account the danger of stirring up anti-foreign feeling in the Abadan oil area."

Abadan is the seat of Anglo-Iranian's major installations, chief among them the world's largest refinery. Some 2,000 foreigners, mostly British, are there with their backs to the Persian Gulf, in an area crowded with 80,000 Iranian workers and ringed by fierce Nomadic tribes.

Price Rollback on Clothing Looms But Cuts May Be Light

BY SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK, June 14—(AP)—A price rollback on clothing is promised today. But the garment industry doubts that many prices will be cut by the formula Washington is expected to issue shortly.

There may be price relief, however, from another source. There are large inventories of unsold clothing, and of uncut fabrics, and considerable price resistance from people who no longer have money to spend on new duds at present prices.

Trade sources think these two factors, would be more likely to bring price reduction than the formula of pricing which Price Stabilizer DiSalle says he has signed.

Industry sources think the price

ing formula, in its first phase at least, will be aimed only at who-ever may have been chiselling since Korea. DiSalle says the formula will allow clothing manu-facturers to use their pre-Korean prices and tack onto them the in-creased costs of labor and ma-terials in the last year. They have been considerable, especially the increase in the cost of wool.

Clothing manufacturers say the higher prices of apparel merely reflect the increased costs. But Di-Salle says some manufacturers have also inflated profits, and in that case they'll have to cut back prices.

Profit control creeps more and more into the picture as the price controls get firmer. Garment manufacturers believe that Wash-ington is determined to cut profits back (through price curbs) to a level of 85 percent of what they were in the years before Korea.

The new pricing order, they believe, might be the opening wedge for future rollbacks on profits.

The joker, as they see it, is that while they would be allowed to reflect rising costs between Korea and the present in their price ceilings, they would not be allowed to pass on any increase in the unit costs of making garments from now on. Profits would thus steady-ly be squeezed back, if taxes go higher and the cost of doing busi-ness rises.

Mobilization Director Charles E.

Wilson said as much yesterday. He said he was against allowing "higher prices because of in-cased production costs" due to grow-ing material shortages or other factory problems.

Industry spokesmen are be-ginning to grumble openly at the government's attempt to hold down profits.

Rain Halts Plans

ALVA, Okla.—(AP)—A meeting of Woods County farmers and ranchers to discuss details of a rain making project was postponed. The reason—the rainmaking corporation said its weather chart predicted rain and attendance would be cut.

Padlocking Law For Ohio Now

Jobless Pay Hike
Bill Also Signed

COLUMBUS, June 14—(AP)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche today signed into law bills to permit pad-locking of gambling places and to increase unemployment benefits.

They were among 19 more measures signed by the governor, leaving 52 of those passed by the last legislature awaiting his action. The padlock law permits the governor, the attorney general, or local law enforcement officials to bring padlock action in court against gambling casinos.

The governor originally request-ed authority to direct the attorney general to take padlock action. But the Republican-controlled legislature gave the attorney gen-eral authority to start padlock proceedings on his own. In addi-tion to acting on any request from the governor.

Lausche previously allowed the so-called "sheriff removal" bill to become law without his signature. It permits the governor to start court removal action against sheriffs, prosecutors, and mayors who fail to enforce gambling and other laws. A third anti-gambling measure still awaits the governor's action.

It seeks to make it a felony to own, display, or transport slot machines in Ohio.

The unemployment compensa-tion measure increases jobless benefits from a maximum $25 for 26 weeks to $28 a week plus de-pendency allowances for minor children to a maximum of $5 a week.

Other newly signed laws liber-alize the state highway patrol pen-sion fund; permit counties to issue bonds for sanitary districts; allow townships to issue bonds to get up garbage collection and disposal services; and extend for two years the .65 percent utility excise tax for poor relief revenues.

Letters by Boss Are on Increase

Company Problems
Laid before Workers

NEW YORK, June 14 —(P)—The boss is writing more letters these days to his employees. He is sending them to the worker's home, because he knows the wife will read them. And the boss has learned a healthy respect for her influence in labor relations.

Back of the letters is the need to explain the firm's problems so that the employee can understand them and feel himself a part in solving them.

Many bosses think letters help employ relations, although if the letter isn't written right it can backfire badly. There is a definite trick about writing such a letter, if it is to do more good than harm.

It must give the worker needed information about the today. But often it does a double educational job. The boss can learn, too.

Many a boss, puzzling out what to say in the letter, admits the necessary study of the situation often has revised his own concept of employ attitudes.

Face-to-face Better

But while letter-writing is on the increase, many executives still hold it is only second best in employ relation -- the ideal thing is face-to-face discussions with groups of employees.

"Letters should not be relied upon to do the job alone," one company head tells the National Industrial Conference Board. The non-profit economic research organization has polled 145 leading companies who use the letter-writing technique, in whole or part.

Some executives have the knack of making the letter sound as if it were written exclusively for the individual reader, the board finds, even if the individual must be well aware the letter he gets is the same every other employee is getting. The personal touch, many companies report, is the secret of a successful letter to the worker.

Another success hint is to get the letter to the folks at home.

"We know that many of the wives of our workers are reading the letters even if their husbands are not," one company says.

"We have a high regard for the good influence which employees' wives have on matters we write about," another reports.

Several companies believe in time of labor disturbances serious trouble was averted by the home influence on the workers.

Letters Carry Prestige

Letters help, many believe, because they emphasize the importance of the information. They say even the mildest reaction is: "here is a letter from the boss. It just might be important." And the letter is read.

Speed is a great asset. Several companies wrote their employees as soon as the government froze wages, to explain how it would affect them, at the moment and in the future. Some letters were in workers' home within 24 hours of the government's order.

Another virtue claimed for the letters: they give the official version, and not some garbled report that has passed through many levels of management to the foreman, or long the rumor grapevine.

"When letters are written, there can hardly be any question later as to exactly what was said," one boss notes.

"But you have to be careful about what you say," another adds "lest it pop out at an inopportune moment."

Some bosses stress: "such a manifestation of interest is likely to make an employee feel like a member of the team"; and, "we write letters to develop in him a sense of security and belonging -- a feeling that he is needed."

Other have words of caution: "to be effective, letters must be written by a person who has a keen understanding of the problems and feelings of the employees."

And one executive confesses: "you don't have to be a jolly good fellow to be a good president. But it helps."

State Museum Is Scene of Blaze

COLUMBUS, June 14—(P)—Ohio State Archaeological and Historical Museum officials said last night it would be several days before they will be able to estimate damage caused by a fire.

Yesterday's fire, believed started by sparks from a workman's welding torch, was confined to the book stacks section. It did not reach any of the books or papers considered rare, which are kept in a vault.

The museum is on the Ohio State University campus.

Starling L. Eaton, superintendent of maintenance, said the fire severely damaged much "irreplaceable reference material."

Boxer Has a Sitter When Owners Go Visiting

By NORMA JEAN MATSON
Central Press Correspondent

ARLINGTON, Mass. — Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Vogel aren't certain whether they own a dog, or he owns them. In his four-and-a-half years, Boxer never has been left alone. In fact, whenever the Vogels go out, they hire a sitter.

Boxer's demands are simple. He just has to have company. "I think he'd get panicky if we left him alone now," says Mrs. Vogel.

Two years ago the Vogels arranged to leave Boxer at a kennel while they spent the winter in Florida. At the last minute, Mrs. Vogel decided to stay with the dog and sent her husband on alone.

Boxer, whose pedigree name is Knabe, has been granted other privileges which he soon demands as rights. The rear seat of the Vogel car, for instance, belongs to Boxer and he won't let anyone else sit there, even if it means taking two cars on an outing.

He has his own chair in Mrs. Vogel's bedroom and the person who unthinkingly sits in it will find Boxer in his lap until he moves.

And when the Vogels got their television set Boxer had to have a chair of his own so he could sit and watch with the rest of the family.

An annoying habit arose from the dog's uncanny sense of time. Promptly at 6 every morning Boxer snorts under Vogel's bedroom door until his master gets up. Then Boxer goes back to his own bed and sleeps until 8.

Boxer arouses master at 6 a. m.

Sits with sitter Wendy Dorman.

Has his private chair in game room to watch television shows.

Summer Recreation Staff To Try New Ideas Here

A variety of play activities and entertainment awaits the children of Washington C. H. this summer. That is, if the kids like the ideas being thought up by the members of the city recreation staff.

Following the opening of the summer recreation program, the staff moved into their new headquarters in the fieldhouse at Gardner Park.

The office is the central distribution point of equipment to the different playgrounds, as well as the central meeting place for the five members of the recreation department. A desk, typewriter and telephone are some of the additions the members made this year to the office.

Although most of the ideas center around games and fun activities, some of the plans for the youngsters will help the community in another way.

Christmas Needy

One of the plans for the younger members of the community, is to repair toys to be used next Christmas for needy families.

This plan, however, hinges on the desire and initiative of the older members to bring in toys that they want to give for Christmas baskets.

When toys are brought in, the kids will spend some of their time putting wheels on broken wagons, mending torn dolls and making dresses for them.

In this way, the youngsters can not only learn to make and repair things, they will also be helping the community as a whole, according to the members of the recreation staff.

Some of the other indoor activities which will keep the kids entertained during rainy days, include such things as making belts, coin purses, clay modeling, drawing and indoor games such as checkers, ping pong and dart throwing. These indoor activities during the rainy days will be at the Gardner Park field house only.

Later in the summer an arts and crafts display will give the mothers and fathers an opportunity to see the work of their children. If the youngsters want to the recreation leaders will help them put on a carnival, pet parade and doll show.

Supervisors Listed There will also be archery and tennis clubs formed for those who want to learn how to play the games better.

The fathers will also have an opportunity to get in on some of the fun, if enough interest is shown for a father and son horse-shoe pitching tournament. Right now the members of the recreation committee are planning to take some of the children who have the best attendance at the playgrounds during the summer to see a Redbird ball game in Columbus.

There are three playgrounds being used at the present time by the youngsters. Eastside school is open from 9:30 to 11:30 A. M. Carolyn Talbott is in charge of the activities.

Cynthia Gage is in charge of the Rose Avenue playground, which is open from 9:30 to 11:30 in the mornings and from 1:30 to 4:30 in the afternoons. The activities at these two playgrounds include softball for the younger boys and girls. The older boys play softball and baseball at Wilson Field. Joe Rush is in charge of the games at the field.

The same program can be found at Gardner Park, which is supervised by Ron Guinn and Harry Townsend, co-directors for the recreation program, and Miss Talbott.

Buying Boosted By Price-cutting

Reaction Being Felt By Manufacturers

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK, June 14 —(AP)—More breaks for the consumer's pocketbook appear in today's news --with promises of still more to come.

Price drops in retail stores, following a long lull in trade and the backing up of inventories, is beginning to worry some manufacturers. In many instances their inventories have been mounting, too, as stores stopped buying.

One of the largest carpet makers will cut half of its fall line by five percent. The trade sees a chance of the price-cutting spreading. The industry has been in a prolonged slump after eight rounds of hiking prices.

The bargains which the retail trade has been offering around the country -- either in the form of traditional "sales" or in the unorthodox and more spectacular form of "price wars" -- has brought customers' back to the stores in better volume.

In New York, where some department stores have been slashing prices from hour to hour in a price war, total business for all department stores in the first week of the "war" jumped to 25 percent above a year ago. In the second week the increase was 18 percent.

People in Buying Mood

As the price cutting spree goes into its third week, merchants report joyfully that the customers who come for the "price war" items are spreading out into the other departments, raising sales totals throughout the stores.

"People are in a buying mood again," one merchant here says.

Retailers cite as one example television sets. Although prices were reduced months ago on sets, they hadn't been selling. Now the sales have picked up again. Apparently the shopper who dropped in for a kitchen gadget kept his purse strings loosened when he looked in at the television department.

The break in carpet prices follows some easing in the price of raw wool, but also reflects increased use of rayon in carpet blends. Raw wool of carpet making quality hit a high of more than $2 a pound last March and some of the mills said they would buy no more at that price.

Prices of carpets started going up in November, 1949, and after eight rounds of increases are about 65 percent higher than then.

Price Hike Cuts Sales

Sales slumped badly since the last advance of 15 percent which the Office of Price Stabilization authorized last March. Price resistance gets most of the blame, but rug makers also note that fewer new homes are being built this year than last, thus cutting in to their market.

Carpet makers are wondering if the cut in fall rug lines won't start people buying again, just as it did in the department stores.

The weatherman gets credit today for much of the promise that the cost of living may be eased by fall. Prospects for a good wheat crop appear much brighter now than they did a few weeks ago. Growing conditions for other crops have been good in many important farming sections of the country.

If the good weather holds and bumper crop result, the chances of price relief at the grocery will be bright this summer and fall.

New Star Found; More Forming

Celestial Creation Concepts Changed

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
DELAWARE, Ohio, June 14—
(AP)—A great discovery is revealed in a report to the Perkins Observatory here by Dr. Otto Struve, University of California astronomer.

It consists of stars, still forming out of dust, that you can see with your naked eye. One is among the brightest in the skies. This one is Rigel, one of four large stars in the constellation Orion. Rigel is Orion's left big toe. He is at your right as you look at this constellation.

Rigel did not exist when the dinosaurs were roaming this country. He is only a few million years old. The evidence of star youth is of two kinds. One is Rigel's brilliance, a million times brighter than the sun, and a million times hotter. At this brightness and heat, Rigel could not have existed more than a few million years, for in a longer time he would have burned himself up.

The other evidence shows on the spectroscopic. This consists of flares made by collisions of dust and gas clouds as they fall into Rigel's face. The flares show that Rigel still is growing from the vast cloud of dust which probably is his origin. Gravitation caused the dust to concentrate into a huge ball. Gravitation then compressed this vast mass until the pressure made it incandescent and Rigel was born as a star.

Limits to Growth
Neither Rigel nor any other star will grow indefinitely, Dr. Struve says, because there is pressure in light. That pressure finally counteracts the gravitational pull upon nearby dust and gas.

Rigel is only one of the youthful stars. There are others a million times brighter than the sun. Some of these, too, show the flashes from the in-falling dust that built them.

These youthful stars change beliefs held until quite lately that the stars all were created first, and that after them came planets like the earth. Most of the stars, Dr. Struve says, now appear to have been created about three billion years ago. This was at about the same time as the earth was created.

What telescopes see going on in the star Rigel strengthens a startling new belief of astronomers that many stars have families of planets the same as the sun. Once it was thought that creation of planets was a very rare event.

Astronomical Theories
"Most astronomers of the present time," says Dr. Struve, "believe that the process of planet formation is intimately connected with the process of star formation and that when a star forms out of the interstellar cloud of gas and dust, the conditions often happen to be such that planets will be formed at the same time. So it seems that the existence of a system of planets circling around a star is a very common phenomenon."

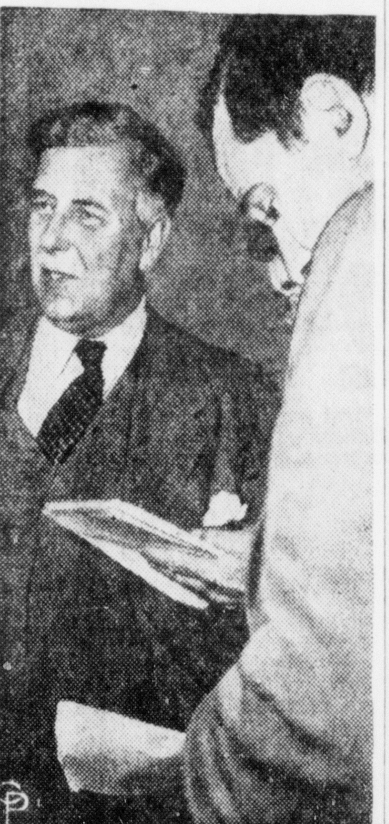

When you look at Orion, you probably are looking right at some of these invisible worlds—too far away to be seen even in telescopes.

It is even likely that these unseen worlds exist in any possible direction that you can look.

Dr. Struve says the number of individual stars is estimated at one trillion times one hundred billion. That is one followed by 23 zeroes. Some stars are thousands of times larger than the sun. Some are small as the moon. Countless numbers could have planets.

Man Has Hiccups For Three Years

LOS ANGELES, June 14—(AP)—Jack O'Leary has had the hiccups for three years.

The 26-year-old former market manager still is being shaken by the spasms—once per second night and day. He has dropped from 130 to 82 pounds and cannot retain food long.

But, his mother said today on the third anniversary of the marriage case of hiccups, her son is cheerful. The family still believes that somewhere they will find a cure.

Two hundred doctors have examined Jack. And he has tried all kinds of medicine.

The only thing that helped him was a trip to Arizona. But even there only the rate of hiccupping was slowed. The spasms didn't stop.

Young O'Leary is unable to work. His mother says he is barely alive.

Korean War Truce Opposed by Taft

CLEVELAND, June 13—(AP)—

Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) says he doesn't think Russia intends to start another war, but if she does, she will do it at her "own sweet time."

The senior Ohio senator made the remark at a news conference yesterday. He was questioned on whether he thought another world war could be brought closer if UN forces in Korea advance to the Manchurian border.

Taft said he didn't think so and added:

"All our policy of Communist containment risks a third world war."

The senator declared the UN forces should not halt their fighting in Korea until the Chinese have been driven out. A Korean Republic should then be established, he said.

Beef Is Getting Scarce in Shops

COLUMBUS, June 14—(AP)—

The biggest "beef" in Ohio today seemed to be: it's getting scarcer in many butcher shops.

Some packers say the shortage has revived black markets, largely in rural areas where farmers sell direct to retailers.

Cincinnati packers—both large and small—say their supplies of beef are from 20 to 50 percent of normal.

Small packers in Toledo report they are receiving but small amounts of beef. Akron packers said they expect to be without beef either this weekend or next.

The state's largest city, Cleveland, reported normal supplies of beef.

Shipments of beef into Portsmouth from large packers were "virtually nil."

Red Errors Give Giants 5-2 Win

Cincy in Three Way Tie for Third Place

BY RALPH RODEN
(By The Associated Press)
Two eighth inning miscues—by Red Stallcup and Connie Ryan—opened the gates wide yesterday and the New York Giants went right through for a 5 to 2 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

The result tightened New York's hold on second place in the National League and left the Reds in a three way tie for third, fourth and fifth.

The game was a tough one for Ewell Blackwell to lose but he, of course, helped the Giants out by serving up a "gopher" pitch. Whitey Lockman's sixth inning home run was the 14th given up by Cincinnati pitchers in the last 11 games.

With the score tied the defense fell apart in the eighth frame. Stallcup booted a double play ball to set the stage. This was followed by Ryan's two-run wild throw.

Before that, however, Cincinnati let a chance to salt the game away get away. That was in the sixth when the Reds scored twice before a man was out.

George Spencer came in to relieve Monty Kennedy and none of the next three Cincinnati hitters could get the ball out of the infield.

Home may be a man's castle but the Brooklyn Dodgers are finding the road more fruitful than their Ebbets Field citadel.

The Dodgers, sprinting six games in front of the pack, are terrors on foreign soil. They have won 15 games and lost only five away from home for a terrific .750 pace. At home they have won 18 and dropped 13.

The Dodgers are unbeaten at Boston, Cincinnati, New York and Pittsburgh. They have lost only one game in St. Louis and two each at Philadelphia and Chicago.

The league leaders currently on their second tour of the west, made it two straight over the St. Louis Cardinals last night, 7-4.

Duke Snider was the big gun for the Dodgers last night. He pounded out four hits, a home run, a double and two singles and drove in three runs to spearhead the Dodgers' 11-hit attack.

Errors also helped Robin Roberts and the Philadelphia Phillies beat the Chicago Cubs, 5-0. The Cubs made four errors, which figured in three of the Phils' runs. Roberts blanked the Cubs on four hits, two of them extra base smashes, for his seventh victory.

American League action was restricted to one game in which the Boston Red Sox defeated the Detroit Tigers, 2-0, behind the five-hit pitching of Bill Wight, who went the distance for the first time this year.

OSU Team Loses 9 to 8 on Walks

OMAHA, June 14—(AP)—Springfield College, the NCAA baseball tournament's first giant killer, will try it again tonight against the hard-hitting Sooners from Oklahoma.

The Massachusetts team, with Bill Norberg pitching a three-hitter, played the sharpest baseball of the opening day of the tournament to beat Texas A and M 5 to 1 last night.

Oklahoma defeated Ohio State 9 to 8 in an unspectacular clash of Big Seven and Big Ten champions. The ten inning game came to an anti-climactical finish when the Buckeye's third pitcher, Paul Williams, walked in the winning run.

Also matched tonight in the winners' bracket are Southern California and Utah. USC beat Princeton 4-1 yesterday and Utah, benefiting by Max Pessotto's four-hit pitching, took Tennessee 7-1.

Japan entered Davis Cup competition for the first time in 1921 and defeated Australia 4-1 in the Final Round, but lost to the United States in the Challenge Round, 5-0.

Luke Easter, first baseman for the Cleveland Indians, has been injured three times this spring.

Bigwigs Meet To Drop Ax on A. B. Chandler

NEW YORK, June 14—(AP)—Baseball's biggest brass, all except Commissioner Albert B. (Happy) Chandler, was in town today to attend to a final chore connected with Happy's divorce from the national pastime.

Each of the 16 big league club presidents was expected to sit down and sign a document drawn up by the outgoing czar's lawyer and approved by barristers for the National and American leagues.

The three-page, single-spaced bundle of legal phraseology guarantees Chandler that he will not be personally responsible for any damages awarded against baseball in suits filed while he was in office. Several still are pending.

The two leagues were to meet separately before noon, with President Will Harridge presiding over the American League session and his opposite number, Ford Frick, on the National League rostrum.

Frick said that, so far as he knew, the signing of "the papers" by his owners would be a formality.

ty, and that his group then would hold a lengthy discussion of other matters not connected with the commissioner's office.

No joint session of the leagues was scheduled, but Frick did not rule out the possibility that all the owners might get together informally later in the day and chew the fat. He doubted seriously that anything would be done about choosing a new commissioner.

At the time Chandler made known his demand for a signed legal release, he said he would resign "some time not too far off" once it was in his possession. His $65,000—year contract runs through next April 30, and he will collect the last dollar of it no matter when he walks out of his Cincinnati office.

The next joint meeting is scheduled July 9, the day before the all-star game at Detroit, and some feel that Happy might choose that occasion for his swan song.

Rain Again Halts Softball Games

The exhibition softball game between the Welding School and the Randall Machine Shop team of Wilmington and the city league VFW and W. C. French game were both called off due to wet grounds.

Neither these nor the two games postponed Tuesday have been rescheduled as yet.

The two Tuesday league games were Rocking Chair Inn and NCR and Pennington's Bakery and Armbrust.

Louis and Savold Fight Postponed Till Thursday

NEW YORK, June 14—(AP)—Forecasts of clear and warmer weather for tonight brightened the hopes of Joe Louis and Lee Savold as they awaited the starting gong for their make-or-break 15-round fight in the Polo Grounds.

Neither of the aged gladiators showed any outward concern over yesterday's postponement. A depressing drizzle beat down on the streets early Wednesday morning and left little doubt that the show would have to be set back another day.

Both, however, voiced a desire to "get it over with" tonight. They've trained vigorously for over a month and at their age—Louis is 37 and Savold 35—they could lose their edge overnight.

If the weatherman is crossed up and forces another postponement, the scrap will be transferred indoors to Madison Square Garden and be held Friday night. A lot of people have been saying it should have been held in the garden in the first place.

Favorites Still Up in Women's Golf Meet

BY FRITZ HOWELL
COLUMBUS, June 14—(AP)—The favorites were still in there pitching—and putting—today as eight co-eds dashed into second round play in the seventh annual national collegiate golf championship for women.

But two of them, including defending Champion Betty Rowland of Rollins, barely made it. The champ was carried to the 19th hole by Dorothy Lowenstein of North Carolina before the queen sank a birdie putt to snatch the victory.

The real thriller was the 24-hole marathon played by Marilyn Herpel of Washington U. and Marjorie Neeley of Stetson, the former winning. Miss Neeley squared it at the 18th with a 15-foot birdie putt, and matched birdies with Miss Herpel on the fourth extra hole before succumbing to a par on the 24th.

Grace De Moss, the medalist from Oregon State, came in with an easy 5 and 4 win over Jane Thomas of Catawba, but looked for sterner competition today from Barbara Bruning of Wellesley, a 3 and 2 victor over Joan Stewart of Cornell.

Miss Rowland was paired today with Tommy Riley of Illinois, who turned in yesterday's lone upset, a 1 up win over Ohio State's Polly Martin, who had bested her by seven strokes in the qualifier.

Kathy McKinnon of Florida Southern plays Betty Kerby of Barry to determine the semi-final foe of the Rowland-Riley match winner. Miss McKinnon ousted the last of Ohio State's entrants, Anne Keltner, 1 up, while Miss Kerby, daughter of Professional Ed Kerby of Akron, was a 2 and 1 victor over Louise Camenz of Louisville.

Choppy Ohio Halts Oarsmen Practices

MARIETTA, June 14—(AP)—The Ohio River calmed down slightly today and crews of 11 colleges practicing for Saturday's intercollegiate rowing championships breathed easier.

On Tuesday and most of yesterday, the three-mile course was too choppy to do much rowing. Only two schools—Princeton and Stanford—have even attempted time trials. Stanford found three miles of fairly calm water early yesterday and covered the distance in 13 minutes, 40 seconds.

Princeton was timed at well under 13 minutes yesterday, boosting the eastern favorite's chances of upsetting favored Washington and California even more.

The current was still three miles an hour today and there was no immediate indication that the river would slow down by race time. Previous plans to close off dams at both ends of the course and bring about a pool condition (still stream) have been discarded because of recent rises in the river. Heavy rainfall has swollen the Ohio and more rain is predicted between now and Saturday.

Crews from Syracuse and Pennsylvania were due to arrive today.

The IRA board of stewards agreed yesterday not to keep Penn out of the race because of its announced intention to televise football games next fall. Penn had been declared a member "not in good standing" by the NCAA because of its defiance of the NCAA's football television moratorium.

Doc Blanchard Moves Closer to Army School

WASHINGTON, June 14—(AP)—The air force will transfer Felix "Doc" Blanchard, all-American back at West Point in 1944-45-46 to Stewart Field, N. Y., later this month so he can become assistant army football coach.

Blanchard, an air force captain and jet fighter pilot at an Alaska air base, will go on temporary duty at the military academy near Stewart Field from July through December.

Columbus Shades Millers 4 to 3

(By The Associated Press)
Milwaukee took advantage of rained-out Kansas City Wednesday night to boost its American Association lead to a full game with a doubleheader sweep over Louisville.

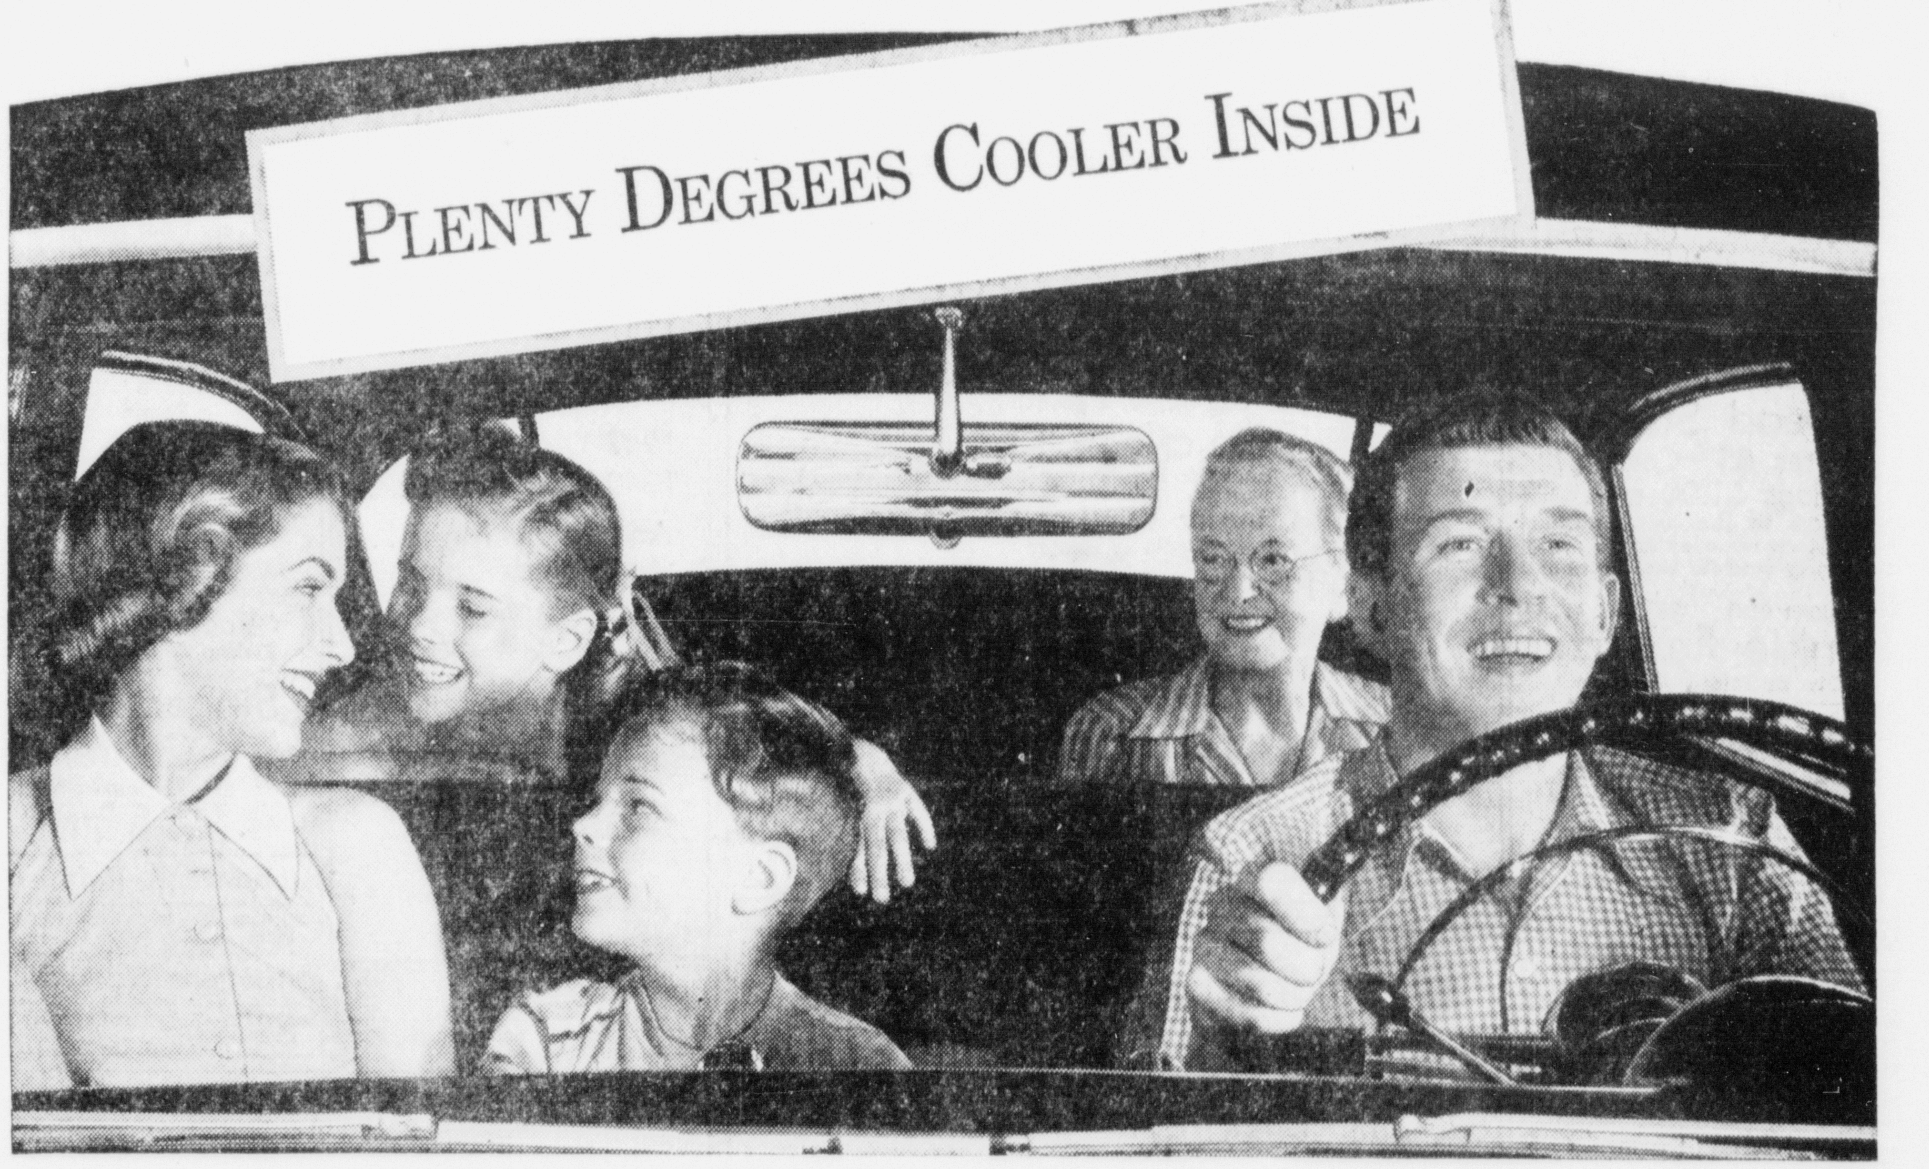

Kansas City's bargain bill at Indianapolis was reset for Thursday. At Louisville, Milwaukee cashed in on a pair of ninth-inning errors for a game-tying run in the ninth and then gained the deciding unearned run in the 10th for a 4-3 nightcap triumph. The Brewers won the opener, 1-0.

Columbus continued its bid to regain a first division spot by beating Minneapolis 4-3 in a single engagement for its fourth straight win.

THESE folks are enjoying something that's being pioneered by Buick.
It's freedom from the blinding glare of bright summer sunlight.
It's freedom from hot laps—caused by the sun's rays beating down through the broad expanse of windshield.
These freedoms trace to a new feature you may have noticed in '51 Buicks—a new kind of glass* with a cool, soft, blue-green tint, in every glass area of the car, front, side and back.
Buick engineers tell us that this "Buick first" reduces glare 18% over conventional glass—cuts sun heat as much as 45%—and Buick engineers are very conservative fellows.
This glare-and-heat-reducing Easy-eye glass is factory-installed at moderate extra charge. It gives you a built-in transparent "sun visor" right in the windshield—and it also dulls the dazzle of oncoming headlights at night.
As we've said, this is something Buick owners were the first to enjoy. It takes its place with such exclusives as the valve-in-head Fireball Engine—coil springs on all four wheels—the firm power linkage of torque-tube drive—and the magic of Dynaflo.*
As we've also said—rather modestly—"Smart buy's Buick."

Come in soon and find out what an understatement that really is.
Equipment, accessories, trim and model are subject to change without notice.
*Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on other Series.

NEW YORK, June 14--(AP)--The current CBS-TV series, "The Goldbergs," (Mondays, 9:30 P. M.) will close in a matrimonial blaze of glory. On next Monday's telecast, Molly's cousin Frieda finally gets hitched to a young man she met on a Fifth Avenue bus. Molly Berg, author and star of the pro-

Visiting the Hague

THE HAGUE, Netherlands, June 14--(AP)--Europe's mad pace is beginning to tell a little--on Margaret Truman. So today the president's touring daughter took it somewhat easier.

Margaret's schedule had only two major events--morning coffee with the burgomaster of The Hague and lunch with Queen Juliana and consort Prince Bernhard at Soestdijk Palace.

Settlers for Israel

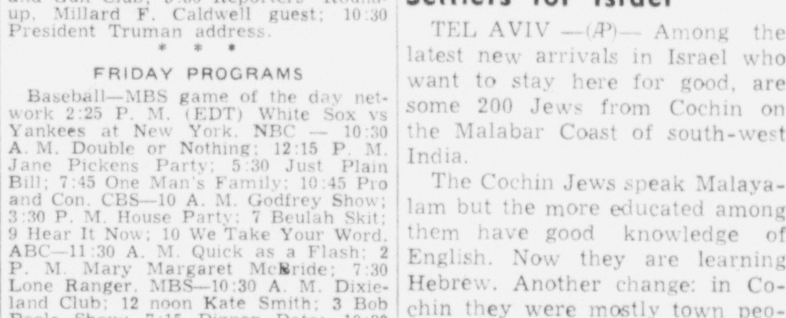

TEL AVIV--(AP)--Among the latest new arrivals in Israel who want to stay here for good, are some 200 Jews from Cochon in the Malabar Coast of south-west India.

The Cochon Jews speak Malayalam but the more educated among them have good knowledge of English. Now they are learning Hebrew. Another change: in Cochon they were mostly town people. Here they want to settle on the land. Some already have done so.

Date Changed For Posting OPS Ceilings

District OPS Director Edward F. Wagner announced today that the date for posting official OPS retail beef price ceiling lists has been changed from June 18 to June 25.

This change has been made necessary in order to insure that all markets will have ample time to receive the lists which OPS is furnishing.

Copies of the posters are going out from Washington this week to regional and district OPS offices. When the price lists are received in the field, they will be mailed to individual markets for posting by June 25.

Wagner also announced that official OPS group posters will be mailed from his office with the price charts. The group posters indicates the classification into which each store falls.

Lie Detector

reasons for many fantastic and ancient methods of determining the truth. Take the old Chinese lie detection method. Two Chinese each said they owned a rickshaw. Each would be given a mouthful of rice. The first to chew and swallow the rice and then whistle the Chinese version of "Yankee Doodle" was judged the truth-teller.

Unscientific? Not entirely. Nervous tension reduces the flow of saliva. An innocent man would be supposed to have a freer flow of mouth juices, enabling him to chew and swallow the dry rice more rapidly.

The same thing goes for a happy old custom of having two disputants plunge their arms into a bucket of boiling water. Nervous tension makes for rapid conduction of heat through the skin. Presumably the innocent man would suffer less burn in a given time.

The man behind the lie detection -- modern version -- in Columbus is Police Sgt. Lloyd Shupe. Suppose you are accused of a crime in Columbus. You agree to take a lie detection test. Here's in general what would happen:

To the second finger of each hand, Sergeant Shupe would attach electrodes from a galvanograph, which records skin resistance. Around your arm he would put the regulation sleeve to keep track of blood pressure. Also he would attach a pneumograph, which records how you breathe.

On the machine itself, two other pens record time in seconds and the questions.

For about two or three hours he'll ask you questions -- three groups of them. Probably he'll start out by asking you to take a deep breath so he can check his instruments. In the first group will be many routine queries, with probably a few emotional ones to indicate your reaction to emotion.

In a second group, he probably will toss his playing card trick at you. He'll let you draw one of five playing cards, keep it secret from him and deny that you have such a card. Then, by asking you if you have certain cards he'll tell you which card you do have.

He never misses.

"I've had 10 or 12 persons give up right there," smiled Sergeant Shupe. "They said: 'if you can tell when I'm lying about a thing like that, then there's no point going on.'"

When you lie, your skin automatically shows different resistance, your breathing becomes shallower and faster, your blood pressure goes up.

The test won't work if you are high in the genius mental rating or if you are psychopathic. You

DAMAGE SUIT SETTLED

The $120,000 damage action of Gerald E. Radcliffe, administrator of the estate of Russell G. Shely, against E. F. Armbrust and Sons has been settled and dismissed at costs of the defendant.

The suit was filed in common pleas court here Oct. 17, 1950 and grew out of the death of Shely, a bus driver, when the bus he was driving collided with a concrete mixer owned by the defendants and driven by Daniel O. Daniels as the mixer started to turn in front of the bus.

The accident occurred on the Chillicothe Road, just east of the crossroads at the Eymann estate and Shely was fatally injured.

TAKEN TO WORKHOUSE

Charles M. Young, Columbus, was fined $500 and costs and given a year in the Cincinnati Workhouse on a charge of non-support filed in the probate court here.

Judge Rell G. Allen passed sentence on Young Wednesday afternoon, after Sheriff Orland Hays brought him here from Columbus, where he was arrested Tuesday. Deputy Sheriff Roy Underwood took Young to the workhouse Thursday forenoon.

Search had been made for Young for more than a year.

The son of Samuel Correll and Sara McDorman Watkins, he was a good neighbor and friend to all who knew him. He was a 50-year member of the Jamestown Masonic Lodge, a Scottish Rite and Shriner.

For many years he was a member of the village council in Jeffersonville and the Board of Public Affairs.

He was married to Loretta Mock 63 years ago. She survives along with the following: two daughters, Mrs. W. W. Williams of Jeffersonville and Mrs. E. F. McKee of Springfield; one grandchild, Mrs. Charles W. Lilly of Jeffersonville, and one great-grandson, James William Lilly.

How To Cook Eggs Discussed by 4-H

Eggs are an important part of our daily diet, and there are many ways to cook them. Members of the Kute Kookies 4-H Club discussed the different ways of preparing them during their regular meeting at Sarah Alteming's home Tuesday afternoon.

The discussion was taken from the 4-H cook book. The members learned that eggs should be cooked slowly, especially if they are being fried.

During the business session the members decided to have a paper drive next Monday to help raise money for the club treasury.

They also made plans to make food posters for the annual fair. Margaret Campbell will be the hostess when the club meets at her home on Tuesday, June 26.

Man Is Arrested Following Crash

Robert Thompson, 25, Wilmington, formerly of Washington C. H., was taken into custody on a reckless operation charge following a wreck on the Greenfield Road at 11:30 P. M. Wednesday.

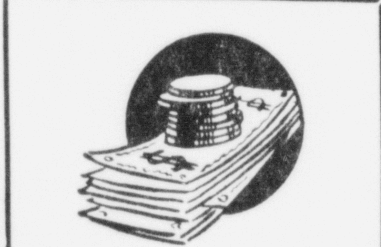

M. E. Brickles, state highway patrolman, who investigated the wreck, made the arrest, and Thompson's bond was fixed at $100 for his appearance in police court Monday.

Patrolman Brickles said Thompson was headed north on Route 70, apparently at very fast speed. His car struck the berm, and in swinging it back upon the main surface, Thompson lost control of the car and it crossed the road, striking a car driven south by Noah Lee of near Washington C. H.

The Lee car was struck in the side and heavily damaged. Thompson's car also was damaged.
